In your great love for me you continue to give yourself, body, blood, soul, and divinity in this sacrament of your love. As I pray here in your Eucharistic presence, enkindle in me the fire of your gospel. Nourish me with your love and compassion, so that I may be your living presence to all I meet. Amen.

RELIQUARY RELICS

St. Dymphna

St. Dymphna is a 7th century Irish virgin martyr widely revered as the patron saint of mental health, including depression, anxiety, and neurological disorders. She is also patroness of runaways and victims of incest and domestic abuse. According to tradition, Dymphna was the daughter of a pagan Irish king and a devout Christian mother. After her mother's death, her father's mental health declined into madness and grief; he attempted to marry Dymphna because she resembled his deceased wife. Dymphna fled to Geel, Belgium, with her confessor, Fr. Gerebernus, but her father eventually tracked them down. When she refused his demands, he beheaded her in a fit of rage. Her legacy is famously preserved in the town of Geel, which became a model for community-based mental health care.
